MUSIC ENJOYMENT FOR EVERYONE

SAFE LISTENING HEADPHONES FOR KIDS

ABOUT OUR VOLUME-LIMITING TECHNOLOGY

Regular headphones and earphones can easily exceed safe listening volumes by as much as 30% when used with portable audio devices, and may cause permanent hearing damage with lengthy or repeated exposure. KidJamz headphones utilize an integrated volume limiter to maintain the sound pressure level (SPL) at 85dB* as recommended by most medical organizations, protecting young ears and helping create lifelong good listening habits.

* 85dB limit is based on an industry-standard 1mW audio output of a typical portable audio device

SAFE LISTENING VOLUME
FOR ALL AGES: 85 dB

OPERATING THE VOLUME LIMITER ON/OFF SWITCH

KidJamz feature a concealed switch on the left ear cup that allows the volume limiter to be disabled in noisy environments.

There are two positions for the switch: volume-limited (85dB), designated by (☺), and unlimited, designated by (☹). Any long and thin object, such as a toothpick, can be used to operate the switch.

Note: Using headphones at higher volume levels for extended periods of time may result in listening fatigue and hearing damage. When using the KidJamz in unlimited mode, set the volume on the connected phone, computer, or mp3 player to the minimum before connecting the headphones, then gradually raise the volume until an acceptable volume level is reached. Children should take a 10-minute break every hour of listening in unlimited mode.
